To whom it may concern,

TENDER FOR AN EVIDENCE REVIEW INTO THE USE OF R&D TAX POLICY TO SUPPORT THE CREATIVE INDUSTRIES.

PERN, the Place-Based Economic Recovery, Regeneration and Resilience Network is an academic led multi-university multidisciplinary collaboration in West Yorkshire, developed to support evidence-based policy making.

PERN are seeking to commission a systematic literature review (or meta analysis or similar) to understand the potential of the UK's R&D tax policy to support the creative industries. The output should include an overview of evidence, understanding of regional differences and policy suggestions tailored to the Yorkshire / West Yorkshire economy.

The Budget for this commission is £2500 inclusive of VAT (if VAT is applicable).

In order to apply, please submit a (up to) 500-word proposal, outlining your approach to this piece of work. We would welcome applications from organisations, academics, or registered PhD students. If submitting as a PhD student, please also provide a brief supporting note from your supervisor confirming that you can undertake this work within the restrictions of your PhD and a note from your departmental administrator confirming that your department / school etc can receive and administer the funds on your behalf. We would particularly encourage applications from underrepresented communities in policy making.

Please submit a proposal by 5pm Monday 6th December 2021 to R.Whittle@Yorkshireuniversities.ac.uk

Any questions should be submitted to R.Whittle@Yorkshireuniversities.ac.uk before Wednesday 24th November.

Yours sincerely,

Richard Whittle
